Cookies, Internet-Related Information, and "DO NOT TRACK"

A cookie is a small text file that may be placed on your computer by websites you visit and the content partners for those sites. Cookies help websites remember visitors when they return to the site. For example, a cookie can help a website remember that you've already registered, so you don't have to sign in again each time you visit. Essentially, cookies are used to customize websites based on content you view and the preferences you have indicated.

We may use the following cookies on the websites:

Strictly necessary cookies. These are cookies that are required for the operation of the Websites. They include, for example, cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of the Websites, use a shopping cart or make use of e-billing services.

Analytical/performance cookies. They allow Us to recognize and count the number of visitors and to see how visitors move around the Websites when they are using it. This helps Us to improve the way our Websites work, for example, by ensuring that users are finding what they are looking for easily.

Functionality cookies. These are used to recognize you when you return to the Websites. This enables Us to associate individual customers with their information profiles or personalize our content for you, greet you by name and remember your preferences (for example, a choice of language or region).

Targeting cookies. These cookies record your visit to the Website, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. We will use this information to make the Websites and any advertising displayed on them more relevant to your interests. We, or third parties acting on our behalf, may use cookies to present information about DFI services to you. They may also be used to provide information by third parties unrelated to DFI regarding goods or services that you may find helpful in connection with your move or relocation. (See also the section on Google analytics below).

You have choices regarding the use of cookies. You can use the preferences in your browser to view, control and delete the cookies you have by, for example, emptying the cache in your browser. You may visit the “Help” menu on your Internet browser for more information, or check with your browser provider. You may also “opt out” of receiving advertisements or other cookies by using services such as those provided by the Digital Advertising Alliance or Network Advertising Initiative. You may find more information about their members and the “opt out” process by going to their websites at www.aboutads.info/choices or www.networkadvertising.org.

By visiting any of the Websites without taking steps to block or remove cookies, you are consenting to the use of cookies and other web technologies in connection with the Websites, as described in this Privacy Policy.

“Do Not Track” is an initiative to develop a signal for an Internet user to notify websites that he or she does not wish to be tracked by third parties. More information on the initiative is available here: <http://www.w3.org/2011/tracking-protection/>. Do Not Track has not been standardized because the initiative has not yet come to a consensus on exactly how websites should respond to these types of signals. Like many other websites, the Websites do not respond to Do Not Track signals.

In addition, the Web servers for some of the Websites use an extended log file format which captures other information about your activity on those Websites including the date and time of visit; referring address (location from which a visitor comes to our site); type of Internet browser; and Internet Protocol (IP) address. The log file does not capture your email address or other information identifying you. We use this information to maintain and secure the Websites, monitor usage patterns, protect our intellectual property, and improve the appearance and content.

Accessing, Updating and Transferring Your PII

DFI acknowledges that you have the right to access your personal information. Upon request, DFI will provide you with information about whether we hold any of your personal information. You also have the right to request a copy of all PII that you have provided to us, as well as, have DFI transmit such personal data directly to another controller.

When the purpose for processing your PII is based on consent, you have the right to withdraw consent at any time. In certain circumstances, however, we may be required by law to retain your personal information, or may need to retain your personal information to continue providing a service, resolve disputes or enforce our agreements. When the purpose for processing your PII is based on contract, we may not be able to continue providing services to you without such personal information and we may have to terminate our relationship.

Google Analytics

Some of the Websites may use Google Analytics and Google Display Advertising which collect anonymous Website user activity through the use of both first-party and third-party cookies. We use the Google Display Advertising features, which collect data through the third-party DoubleClick cookie, in order to:

- Serve you with relevant advertising after you leave the Websites;
- Provide us with information about how our use of various advertising services is related to visits to the Websites; and
- Identify trends in how the Websites are being used, and by what demographics, and publish those trends in reports for internal use.

Google Analytics collects your IP address. We use your IP address information to learn the geographical locations where the Websites are being used. Your IP address does not identify you personally nor does it contain Personal Information such as your name or email address.

We will not merge your Personal Information with information collected through the DoubleClick cookie without first providing you notice of the merger and obtaining your opt-in consent.

You may opt-out of Google Analytics for Display Advertising and customize Google Display Network ads using the Google's Ad Settings.

You can learn more here: https://support.google.com/ads/answer/2662856?hl=en&ref_topic=2971788.

You may also opt-out of Google Analytics tracking with the Google Analytics opt-out browser add-on, which is available here: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout/>.

Please note that if you opt-out of Google Analytics tracking, you will continue to receive advertisements as you browse on the Internet, but those advertisements will not be tailored to your interests.

Visiting Other Internet Sites

Other Internet sites you visit hosted by third-party businesses, including those which may be linked to or from the Websites, may have their own privacy policies or no policy at all. We are not responsible or liable for the independent privacy policies of those third-party sites. The inclusion of any link does not necessarily imply that We endorse the third-party company, its Internet site, or any products or services that it may promote or sell.

When you leave one of the Websites to visit a third-party website, the information transferred to the third party may include the referring address, which discloses the fact that you came from our Websites. This practice allows the third party to monitor its own Internet traffic.

Children's Online Privacy

None of the Websites are directed at or intended for children under the age of 13. We do not knowingly collect Personal Information through the Websites directly from children and will destroy such information if We become aware that a child has disclosed such information to us without proper parental consent.

Access, Questions and Dispute Resolution

We will provide you with a reasonable opportunity to access your Personal Information that We have collected, correct it if it is inaccurate, or delete it as appropriate. Subject to relevant local legal requirements, (a) any such requests must be reasonable in number and scope; (b) We reserve the right to deny access to information where the burden or expense of providing access would be disproportionate to the risks to the individual's privacy or where the rights of other individuals may be violated. If you wish to make a request to access your Personal Information, or have any questions or concerns about our policies or practices, please contact privacy@darylflood.com.

In compliance with the Privacy Shield Principles, DFI commits to resolve complaints about our collection or use of your personal information. EU and Swiss individuals with inquiries or complaints regarding our Privacy Shield policy should first contact DFI at privacy@darylflood.com.

DFI has further committed to refer unresolved Privacy Shield complaints to the American Arbitration Association, an alternative dispute resolution provider located in the United States. If you do not receive timely acknowledgment of your complaint from us, or if we have not addressed your complaint to your satisfaction, please contact or visit <https://www.adr.org/Support> for more information or to file a complaint. The services of AAA are provided at no cost to you.

If your complaint is not resolved by the recourse methods above, you may invoke binding arbitration. More information is located here: <https://www.privacyshield.gov/article?id=How-to-Submit-a-Complaint>

Onward Transfer

If you choose to provide DFI Companies with your information, you consent to the transfer and storage of that information on our servers located in the United States. The information collected by DFI Companies is subject to state and federal law. If you are accessing the Websites from other jurisdictions, please be advised that you are transferring your Personal Information to Us in the United States where data protection and privacy laws may be less stringent than the laws of your country. BY USING THE WEBSITES, YOU CONSENT TO THE TRANSFER AND USE OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION IN ACCORDANCE WITH THIS PRIVACY POLICY.

Effective Date and Updates

This Privacy Policy was last updated as of June 1, 2018. Your continued use of any of the Websites signifies your consent to this Privacy Policy. The DFI Companies reserve the right to change this Privacy Policy at any time by posting the revised policy on the Websites. We monitor compliance with our Privacy Policy through employee training on data security, at hire and in yearly training courses on data security, as well as annual review of our Code of Corporate Conduct by employees, which includes information regarding our Compliance Hotline. DFI's Legal department monitors developments in data privacy law and works with other business units to initiate changes to policies and procedures as necessary, and DFI's Information Technology department monitors technical developments in data security, and data organization and segregation practices for privacy purposes.
